

YOUR EXPERTISE MATTERS

We measure. You teach.

A practice app can show what is changing. Your teaching helps people understand how to work on it.

Who we're looking for

Voice coaches, singing teachers and speech-language professionals supporting gender-affirming voice goals.

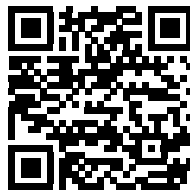

You keep ownership of your content and can remove it any time. Share clear, kind guidance, with notes on when to stop.

Coaches must be 18+. Formal qualifications are welcome, but not required to apply. Tell us about your experience.

AN INVITATION TO COACHES

Your teaching, in their daily practice.

Be there between lessons.

Share your expertise. Reach people who need it. Coach your own students in the app, between lessons.

Gender-affirming voice practice

Feminising • Masculinising • Androgynous

Bring your teaching to life.

Start with what you already teach.
Build from there.

Share your videos

Link YouTube lessons and add timestamps to the moments that matter.

Make guided exercises

Add clear steps, recording prompts and a reference in your own voice.

Build a programme

Arrange videos and exercises into a sequence learners can follow.

Public resources stay free

Your coach profile and sharing public videos, exercises and programmes remain free.

The right lesson. At the right time.

Help people who are looking for the skill you teach.

You tag the skill

Choose the focus, voice direction and level for each item.

Practice informs the match

The app considers a learner's goals, recent practice and how it felt.

Your teaching is suggested

Relevant content appears with your profile and links to your services.

Need an idea? The Gaps view shows which skills need more content.

Your students. Your guidance.

Coach in the app, during and between your own lessons.

Invite your students

Adults join by code, link or QR code, after seeing what you can access.

Set tasks, see results

Assign exercises with instructions and your own demo recording. Task results come to you automatically.

Give feedback and stay in touch

Review shared recordings and progress. Reply with text or recorded feedback; chat one-to-one with voice notes.

Keep resources private for your students. They can leave at any time; your access ends immediately.

Coach-student features: on trial

Free while the trial lasts. These features may change and may be charged for in future, announced well in advance.
